Our Quest For Knowledge

New ideas of high-school life confuse our eighth graders. Soon, however, they leave behind their lost feeling with a helping hand from upperclassmen.

Sophomores find themselves at the middle point of their high-school education. Eager for knowledge, they make use of the school's library facilities.

One of the thrills of high-school life has occurred Juniors examine their class rings, a major symbol o their accomplishment.

9s The Same

In spite of the busy schedule of events, freshmen take time out to learn more about their school from its handbook.

Although separated by age and position, all students of G. C. H. S. find themselves bound together by a common purpose: the search for education. This tie links them all, not only as individuals or classes, but also as a school.

The solemn recessional will soon begin. With diploma in hand, seniors close the doors of their high-school life but continue their quest for knowledge.

We Are Amazed At The

Classes make up the most vital part of high school. In the classroom students gain a true sense of companionship and develop interest in a variety of subjects.

Tomorrow we shall learn English . . . and tomorrow . . . and tomorrow . . . and tomorrow!

Wonders Of Education

Look who's trying to explain the world situation to senior citizens!

It seems that the world remains round even in geography class.

Students find that diligence brings reward in operating office equipment.

spirit...guidance

The guidance of teachers helps students along the rough paths of education, but only their undaunted spirit can successfully carry them through. Neither factor can be neglected, for both are necessary to achieve goals of education.

Preparing Us For The

Our future mathematicians????

With emphasis on these preparatory subjects today, students at G. C. H. S. pave the way to a bright future. Many of them will be the future leaders in our Atomic Age.

Have pencil. Will draw.

Wonders Of The Juture....

Mr. Crane displays one of his prize possessions - an alligator!

These vocational subjects are the major tools in acquiring the impressive positions of scientist and homemaker. Both are important in the world of tomorrow.

Don't you wish you knew how to make a fruitcake?

Mix carefully and then take cover!!

Mr. Andrew G. Wright

To a gentleman - who because of his patience with our problems, understanding of our needs, and genuine concern for our future has been an inspiration and guiding light to students and faculty alike

To a past principal - who through his untiring effort, sincere willingness to help, capable leadership, and dedicated service has taken an active part in our lives

To a counselor - who in the past has aided so many students that we have great confidence and faith in his future ability

To a friend - who because of his warm personality, keen sense of humor, friendly smile, and outstanding character is loved, respected, and cherished by everyone

We fondly dedicate the 1960 RIPARIAN.

Foreword

In our attempt to assemble an annual for you, the students, our chief concern has been what you would like in your yearbook. We want this book to be one which you will always treasure as a reminder of your high-school days.

As you gaze through these pages of memories, we hope you will turn the last page with satisfaction.

A Letter To The Students

The faculty and I congratulate the student body for all it has done to make this one of the finest years in the history of the school. The student leaders are to be commended for their vision, foresight, and excellent cooperation. We have had a wonderful year together, and we should be proud of the students' achievements. To the members of the senior class, I extend my very best wishes for a successful career.

Sincerely yours,

Superintendent E. R. Riedel

Mrs. Louise Stainback, secretary to the principal

At the head of each school system, there must be qualified administrators to direct the school proceedings. G. C. H. S. has been very fortunate to be under the guidance of such men. The school board, which includes Adolphus Slate, V. J. Kreienbaum, and C. P. Flythe, chairman, devises school policies and renders decisions on student activities in a capable manner. E. R. Riedel, superintendent of Greensville County Public Schools for the past ten years, has done much to improve the school program and increase its recognition. The efficiency and competency of the school program should be partially accredited to its secretaries. The capability of these administrators has added greatly to the program of G. C. H. S.!

Graduation Thoughts (First Place)

The processional march
Was begun;
Down the aisle seniors filed
One by one.
Sweet rememberances of friends
Left behind
Touched each heart and impressed
On each mind
The true value of one's Fellow man.
The processional march
Is now done;
Through life's doors seniors file

- Juliana Watkins

One by one.

Always Remember (Second Place)

We've been together from the first; Now parting time is here. We've had our ups and downs, it seems, Throughout our school career. The time has come for us to part; The years have really flown. The time has come to say good-bye To all the friends we've known. Though we'll all go our separate ways, I know we'll ne'er forget The memory of our school years: They've made our life so set. Receiving of our class rings, too, And dancing 'til the dawn Are memories we won't forget 'Til all our days are gone. When we come back in "Seventy" To reunite again, We'll laugh at all the things we did But puzzle o'er life's refrain. Oh, Class of '60, stand so strong Forever to remain So loyal to our classmates true Until we meet again.

What a remembrance the prom brings to us!

Class History

As graduation looms near on the horizon of life, we the seniors of 1960 pause in our eager hopes for the future to review times that have passed. Looking back over these experiences, we realize that the past few years have provided the key to life itself: education. From timid eighth-grader to informed senior every experience has served to help us progress.

When five years ago we entered Greens ville County High School, reserved and awesome but determined to fulfill our ambitions, we little realized the toil and time involved. As eighth-graders we were "new in the business" of high-school life, but we soon learned our way. We discovered that teachers were sincere, dedicated people willing to help with our problems.

Soon we found ourselves freshmen, and at the same time we discovered that we had risen in the world. With our new-found authority we began to shove forward to greater heights. We reached them partially when we became sophomores. This we decided was the highest goal that could be attained. Therefore, we made the most of this year. However, it had to end, and when it did, we had reached a higher plateau. We had made it; we were juniors.

That year was one big thrill. Never before had we had so much to do! Our Mardi Gras Junior-Senior Prom was a success. Our Junior Minstrel, in which so many took part, yielded large returns. To complement the entire year we juniors received the biggest thrill we had heretofore endured: our class rings.

As summer vacation drew nearer, we became aware that in a few short weeks we would have arrived at the final stage of our school careers. In September we discovered that it wasn't a dream; we really were seniors.

In Earl Wayne Taylor, president; Gene Johnson, vice-president; Maryann Dianis, recording secretary; Jean Grizzard, corresponding secretary; Judy Owens, treasurer; and Earl Stanley, reporter, we found capable leaders for our last year.

At the annual homecoming celebration Peggy Lucas reigned as queen with Linda Slate as maid of honor. Senior representatives, Joan Powell and Linda Minton, were also lovely.

Greensville County High School was host to other schools in November for College Day. In January came grueling mid-term exams. Having completed them, we felt much better and began to plan for our New York trip. It was one of the great highlights of the year. The return of the annual also brought excitement and praise for those who had worked so hard to prepare it. The Junior-Senior Prom and Banquet were wonderful and showed careful planning by the juniors. In return our picnic was an enjoyable occasion.

And then came the climax of twelve years - - graduation! It was the culmination of hopes, ideals, and hard-won successes. We had worked and played together, fought but stayed together; now we must go our separate ways. Instinctively we know we shall always remain together in our hearts.

This is the first year that the eighth grade has been considered a part of the high school. Under this system the eighth graders may take high-school subjects and are given credits; however, the class still has a long road up the ladder of high-school life. As yet, they haven't chosen a class motto, a flower, or colors. The Riparian staff wishes them success in the future!

Beta Club

Executive committee plans aims.

The purpose of the G. C. H. S. Beta Club is to promote the ideals of honesty, service and leadership among the students of our school, to reward meritorious achievement by requiring that each member maintain an "A" or "B" average, and to encourage and assist other students to acquire high scholastic records and continue their education after high school. Some immediate aims of '59-'60 were: a tapping-in ceremony for new members, compiling and posting the honor roll each six weeks, decorating the school Christmas tree, filling a cheer basket at Christmas and tutoring other students. Membership in the Beta Club is not only an honor and privilege, but also an influencing factor when applying for entrance to college.

New members of '59-'60: Joyce Ann Allen, Brenda Conner, Judis Darden, Jimmie Ferguson, Matt Hutcheson, Lynn Jordan, Sue Klugel, Keith Mitchell, Barbara Shepherd, Suzanne Stainback, and Aletha Starke.

As the senior members leave the Beta Club, we wish them luck in their future life.

The aim of the G.C.H.S. Forensic Club is to promote interest of students in dramatics, public speaking, poetry, prose and spelling. Thus far it seems to have successfully accomplished this task.

This year the Forensic Club sponsored local spelling, prose-reading, and poetry-reading, contests. The winners represented their school at the district contest. The club also presented two plays: one for the community and the other for district competition.

Officers organize plans for the year.

In its first year of organization, the A. G. Wright Future Teachers of America has proven itself a creditable asset to this school. With the help of Mrs. Merle Vassar, sponsor, the club has prospered since its affiliation with the national organization in the fall. It has fulfilled its purpose to interest good students in becoming teachers, to help pupils understand the value of education, and to render service to school and community. The club has been very active beginning with installation of officers by Mr. Roberts. Later, the members served as guides for the P. T. A. and entertained the faculty with a tea during National Education Week.

Juture Homemakers Of America

Future Homemakers of America holds one of its regular meetings in the living room of the home economics department.

The F. H. A. is one of the most active clubs in G. C. H. S. The club attempts to improve homemaking skills and train girls for future life. Their many projects are for the benefit of the home and school. For school projects they remembered the school board at Christmas, donated an electric fan to the home economics department, prepared bulletin boards, remembered faculty members, had devotions and blessings over the intercomduring National F. H. A. Week, and completed a school beautification project. Outside of school they participated in the county fair with a booth display, held a Daddy-Date Night Supper and Mother-Daughter and Father-Son Banquet, prepared a basket for a needy family at Christmas, and performed a home beautification project. Truly the F. H. A. has planned and achieved much!

Fourth row: Lawrence Velvin, Albert Lewis, Wayne Gregory, Daniel Wayne Moore, Daniel Pollard, Lester King, Billy Dickens, and (Warren Rawlings).

Mr. M. M. Moseley, sponsor, shows two of his F. F. A. boys how to use a spray gun properly.

The G. C. H. S. Future Farmers of America is an active organization composed of boys studying vocational agriculture. Living daily by their motto - "Learning to do, doing to earn, earning to live, living to serve" - has furthered the interests of the club. Their aim is to develop agricultural leadership, co-operation with fellow members, and good citizenship. The main project of the club this year was the beautification of the school grounds. The boys had the responsibility of planting the shrubbery and trees which have added to the beauty of the school.

Safety Patrol

The Safety Patrol is, by far, one of the most valuable organizations of Greensville County High School. These fifteen members, under the guidance of Mr. Burwell Winslow, are shouldering the responsibility of protecting students' lives. Every day you may see them on the streets at dangerous intersections or on buses assisting the drivers. Under the driver's guidance, the safety patrol member helps students get on and off safely and sees that they behave properly. During home football games this year, the patrol did an excellent job in directing of the parking of cars. Therefore, each student should feel it his duty and responsibility to co-operate with and obey the Safety Patrol. The Riparian staff salutes you, Patrol, for a job well done!

Guiding Light for G. C. H. S.

The Spirit

In the crisp fall night as we sat tense in the stands, the noisy yells and furor created by our cheerleaders broke through the confusion, adding zest and spirit to the football game. Many times this scene was re-enacted as the morale built up by the cheerleaders caused the team to push on to victory or glorious defeat. If the game was held at home, excitement was aroused beforehand by these same capable, energetic cheerleaders in a school pep rally. Every movement they made, perfected only by hours of hard practice, showed their patience and desire to aid school spirit.

A lusty yell builds spirit.

Behind The Team

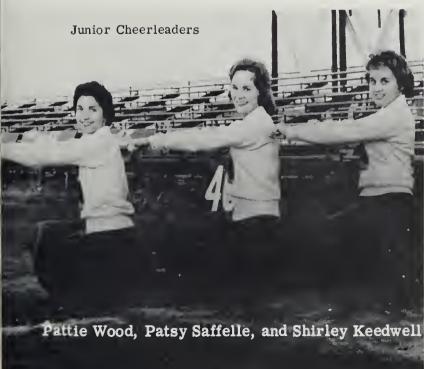

Mrs. Rogers confers with senior members.

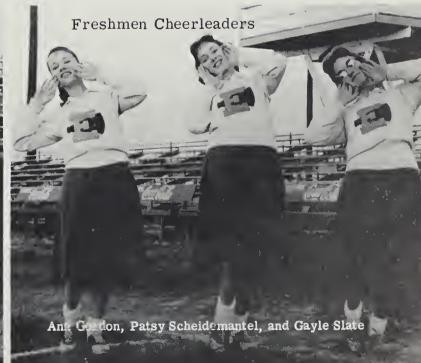

In the case of out-of-town games, the cheerleaders traveled with the students on the spectator bus. Here again by means of songs and cheers they built up excitement.

Always willing to work for their school, the cheerleaders spent time and effort selling football programs, G. C. H. S. buttons, and hats to aid the school athletic program.

In addition to football, they stand just as determined to aid their school during basketball season. For a job well done in '59 and '60 the school salutes you, cheerleaders!

Guiding Hands.

One of the most important factors in the maintenance of worthy clubs is experienced sponsors. G. C. H. S. club sponsors are not only experienced leaders but also willing servants towards the betterment of these organizations. The diversified extracurricular program at this school requires sponsors skilled in different fields. This year club members have found them to be helpful in solving problems, willing to give up their time, and devoted to the service of the club. Futhermore, officers have discovered that they are essential to the clubs' progress. These sponsors and their clubs are Mrs. Overbey and Mr. Roberts, S. C. A.; Miss Johnson, Senior Girls'

Tri-Hi-Y; Mr. Crane, Senior Boys' Hi-Y; Mrs. Rogers, Eaglettes' Tri-Hi-Y; Mrs. Wiley, Nonettes' Tri-Hi-Y; Mr. Jones, Junior Boys' Hi-Y; Mr. Overbey, Beta Club; Mrs. Slate, F.H.A.; Mr. Moseley, F. F. A.; Mrs. Vasser, F. T. A.; Mrs. Wood, French Clubs; Mrs. Reid, Forensic; Mr. Winslow, Patrol; Mrs. Parker, Library; Coach Davis, Monogram; Mrs. Tucker and Mrs. Brothers, Green and Gold; Mrs. Moseley, Band; and Mrs. Gobble, Miss Davis, and Miss Johnson, Riparian staff. Without these dedicated sponsors, the clubs would not be able to function as smoothly as they do.

This year as last year, Peggy Lucas held the position of Drum Major of the G. C. H. S. band. Relying on her developed skill in the various maneuvers and the power of her shrill whistle, she really helped to improve the intricacy of the band's performances.

Another vital part of the G. C. H. S. band is our seven spirited majorettes: Mary Jane Mills, Jo Ann Brett, Jeanne Riggan, Linda Slate, Dianne Newsome, Mary Lou Harris, and Ann Cook. Headed by Linda, who serves as Head Majorette, the girls have become experienced twirlers and are experimenting with new routines.

G. C. H. S.

During the 1959 football season, the crowds excitingly gathered, awaiting the thrills of the game. The cheerleaders joined the group to helpurge the team to victory. Still, the scene was not complete until the Greensville County High School Band came marching onto the field. Miss Peggy Lucas, drum major, was leading the band with the help of her shrill whistle. Following closely behind were the head majorette, six high-stepping majorettes and fifty other members in their brilliant orange and black uniforms. Under the direction of Mrs. Bette H. Moseley, the band members had new and interesting routines which they presented during the half time of each game. One of the highlights this year was the thrilling lighted and fire baton act which was performed at the homecoming game. Whether the team was crowned with victory or defeat, the band always faithfully supported the hard-working boys.

Band

As part of its program, the band performed in the Weldon and Petersburg parades and in Annual Band Day in Charlottesville. It also sponsored, for the first time this year, a clinic on marching and drill perfection to which neighboring school bands were invited. With the help and support of the Band Booster Club, another trip to the Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester was undertaken and accomplished. Yes, the G. C. H. S. Band has certainly proven itself an essential part of the school, but this has only been the story of the marching band.

In concert position, it's even greater! Two concerts were presented this year as part of its program. The first was a Christmas concert at school for the student body; the second, the annual spring concert. Here each member was able to display his skill and ability in playing a musical instrument. Still, probably his most interesting assignment was to play at those rip-roaring pep rallies before each home game. It still puzzles many whether the band can play or yell louder!

Rus Cato, captain of the band, displays his talent on the trumpet. Rus has taken band for all four years of high school and has served as captain for the last two.

The color guard, consisting of Donald Stainback, Gerald Conwell, Stanley Prince, Linwood Parker, John Pritchard, and Barbara Ann Harris, presents a fairly new idea to our band. When performing in half-time ceremonies at games, the color guard adds color and freshness to the routine.

The band is a complex organization requiring qualified leaders to head it. This year the band has prospered under the guidance of Rus Cato, captain; Danny Fackler, second lieutenant; Bari Novey, first lieutenant; Morris Wray, second lieutenant; Dianne Newsome, secretary-treasurer; Peggy Lucas, drum major; Linda Slate, head majorette; Jeanne Riggan, assistant librarian; and Marilyn Ondich, librarian

Aw! you shouldn't have said that, Earl!

Do you seniors always act like that?

Whee, teacher! Sorry I'm late for class.

All right, Gwen. What are you up to now?

Julie welcomes our new principal.

Oh, come on, fellows. Don't be shy.

Eagles' stout defense stops another drive.

Taylor goes for yardage against Blackstone.

Vincent Sweeps around end with excellent block coverage.

Sadler drives up the middle against Randolph-Henry.

Co-captain Jones received instructions from Coach Davis.

Harrison is stopped at a decisive moment.

Emporia

Peggy Lucas, Homecoming Queen, is crowned by Mr. Roberts, principal, as she begins her reign. This ceremony took place during the half-time activities of the homecoming game.

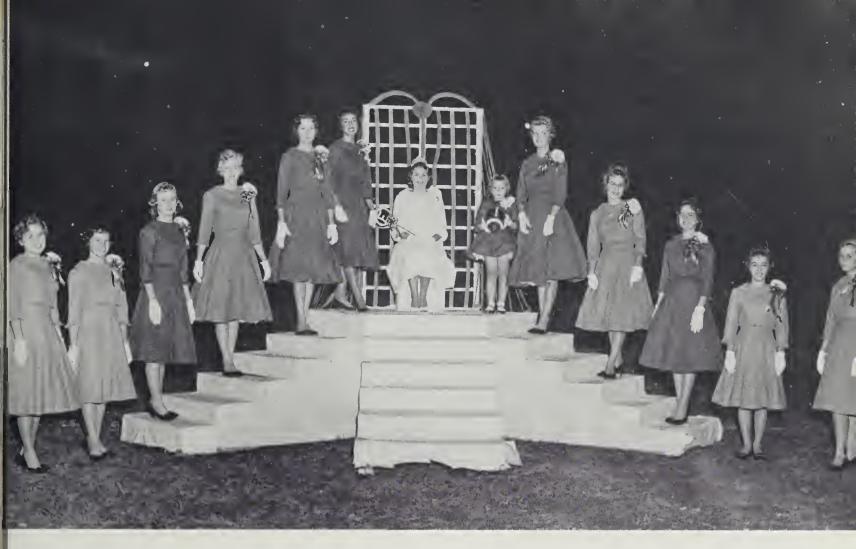

Even though there were times of discouragement and despair, the team fought on with undaunted spirit and won the homecoming game!

Celebrates

Linda Slateas Maid of Honor made a lovely addition to the homecoming festivities.

Her Homecoming

Always loyal, the spectators faithfully remained for the game despite the heavy rainfall. The atmosphere was one of dripping umbrellas, drenched clothes, mud-spattered shoes . . . in other words, WET! To the disappointment of this happy group, the steady downpour caused the postponement of the homecoming festivities. However, clear skies the next Friday night allowed G. C. H. S. to complete its 1959-'60 homecoming.

In the past three years the Greensville County HighSchool track team has advanced at a remarkable rate. The Eagles set their pace at the first tri-team meet between Emporia, Prince George, and Southampton. The results of this meet were Prince George: 31 2/3 Southampton: 52 and Emporia: 56 1/3

After this first victory, the Eagles continued in the same manner and ended the season by securing the District 3 Group 2 Championship.

"They Aimed High

Girls' and Boys' State delegates put into practice the government knowledge they acquired this summer. They are Carolyn Mitchell, Martha Harrell, Jean Grizzard, Steve Ferguson, Don Martin, Bob Wayne Mitchell and Rus Cato.

Blue Ridge delegates prepare for departure. They are Martha Harrell, Pattie Wood, Juliana Watkins, Edward Wood, Patsy Saffelle, Linda Minton and Billy Pruett.

1959 Model General Assembly delegates: Jimmie Ryals, reporter; Morris Wray, senator; Kitty Hoy, page; Carolyn Mitchell, chaplain of the House; Juliana Watkins, House delegate; and Martha Harrell, House delegate.

But Reached Higher"

On this page of senior achievements are pictured the most honored ones in the senior class. Highest scholastic achievement determines the valedictorians and salutatorian. "Strong in will, to strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield" could easily have been the motto of these scholars. Citizenship exhibited in the home, school, church and community provides the criterion for selecting the DAR Best Citizen.

Katha Massey, DAR Best Citizen

Katha Massey and Carolyn Mitchell tied for Valedictorian with a perfect average of all A's through high school. Martha Harrell, the Salutatorian, attained an almost perfect average with only one "B."

Resumé

As you, the students of G. C. H. S., turn this final page of the 1960 Riparian, we, the staff, sincerely hope you have lived anew the wonders which have occurred within you and your school this year. To one actually viewing one of the seven wonders of the modern world, our seven wonders of high school may seem insignificant and inconsequential, but never believe that this school year has been without meaning or purpose. Lest you doubt, the following resume will summarize the very happy and momentous hours spent in molding our minds, hearts, and ambitions toward becoming useful citizens of the world:

In early September the corridors of Greensville County High School echoed with laughter and greetings as students, elated, reluctant, or indifferent, trekked back for another year of study. Class schedules were received with great anticipation, and, to a few, schedule changes afforded opportunities to become acquainted with the new principal. Eventually, lectures, recitations and questions indicated the school had settled down to the business of the year.

September offered an important night for the eighth graders when they invited their parents to the reception. Parents and eighth graders became acquainted with the high school and the faculty.

September also provided a time when all students within our great Commonwealth were given the "Sequential Tests of Educational Progress" and "School and College Ability Tests." So for approximately eight days we listened intently, read purposefully, calculated ingeniously, or experimented daringly. February, however, would tell the tale.

October contributed increasing excitement to the activities centered around the gridiron. Football heroes were in demand; cheerleading antics were applauded. Everyone anticipated the climactic affair of the season: homecoming. The water produced that night, however, came from two sources: the hovering, menacing clouds and the eyes of those exhilarated by the color and excitement associated with such an occasion! Job's ageless cry from time immemorial of "Why did it happen to me?" swelled within the hearts of these. The following Friday night witnessed the bevy of lovely girls beneath a star-lit sky, and the radiant queen, upon being kissed by the principal, commenced her reign.

"Comparable to Broadway" is applicable to the Junior Minstrel. The performers really set an example to challenge next year's junior class. November departed with six-weeks tests and our being elated with the Thanksgiving holidays.

A spontaneous feeling within the hearts and minds of seniors taking the College Entrance Board Examination in December was that there is much to learn! Renewed resolutions to study harder and to learn more stirred within the hearts of those concerned. Generosity and benevolence were shown prior to Christmas when students prepared baskets of food, clothing and toys for the needy. With the arrangement of the final star on the Christmas tree in the entrance corridor, the Beta Club members signaled the beginning of the Christmas season for the school. The band's fine performance signified the finale.

January proclaimed last year's spelling champion to be 1960's best speller. Words missed by contenders in assembly will never again be misspelled! Midnight oil was burned profusely when mid-term exams began on January 19. Reaping benefits were in store for those who had sowed abundantly and intelligently!

Leaves flipped from the calender of time, and Marchbade February adieu as seniors practiced long hours in order to present the best play ever. Polished actors and actresses emerged, delighted with their first taste of life behind the footlights. The swish of the basket to indicate another basketball goal fulfilled many outlets for participation in an athletic event or for spellbound watching.

"When winter comes, can spring be far behind?" was joyfully answered negatively as seniors elatedly made preparations for the great trip to New York. Broadway seemed its gayest, and the city apparently extended an individual welcome to the folks from the second-class city. April also offered another gala occasion: the Freshman-Sophomore Dance! Fond memories accumulated.

May is quickly passing. Strains of the orchestra at the Junior-Senior Prom will probably always be heard in reverie. Ask any guest; he'll tell you this affair was the best one in the history of the school. After the annuals are received, students will anticipate commencement functions: class day, the baccalaureate sermon, and graduation night - - - preceded, of course, by grueling final examinations. This year has been unique in that never again will the same people amble down these beloved halls and never again will events be controlled by the same prople. The old must leave to provide room for the new. As you read and re-read this annual and gaze and re-gaze fondly at pictures of ones whom you love and admire, may your scurrying in the halls to get to class on time, your thrilling at the whistle to announce the commencement of an athletic event, your vieing for top honors on any occasion, your listening attentively to a teacher whom you respect, your feeling of accomplishment upon conquering an obstacle, your admiring intensely the one donned in a tuxedo for the one fabulously gowned, become acute parts of your memory and dwell within your heart forever.
